

0 5 10 cm

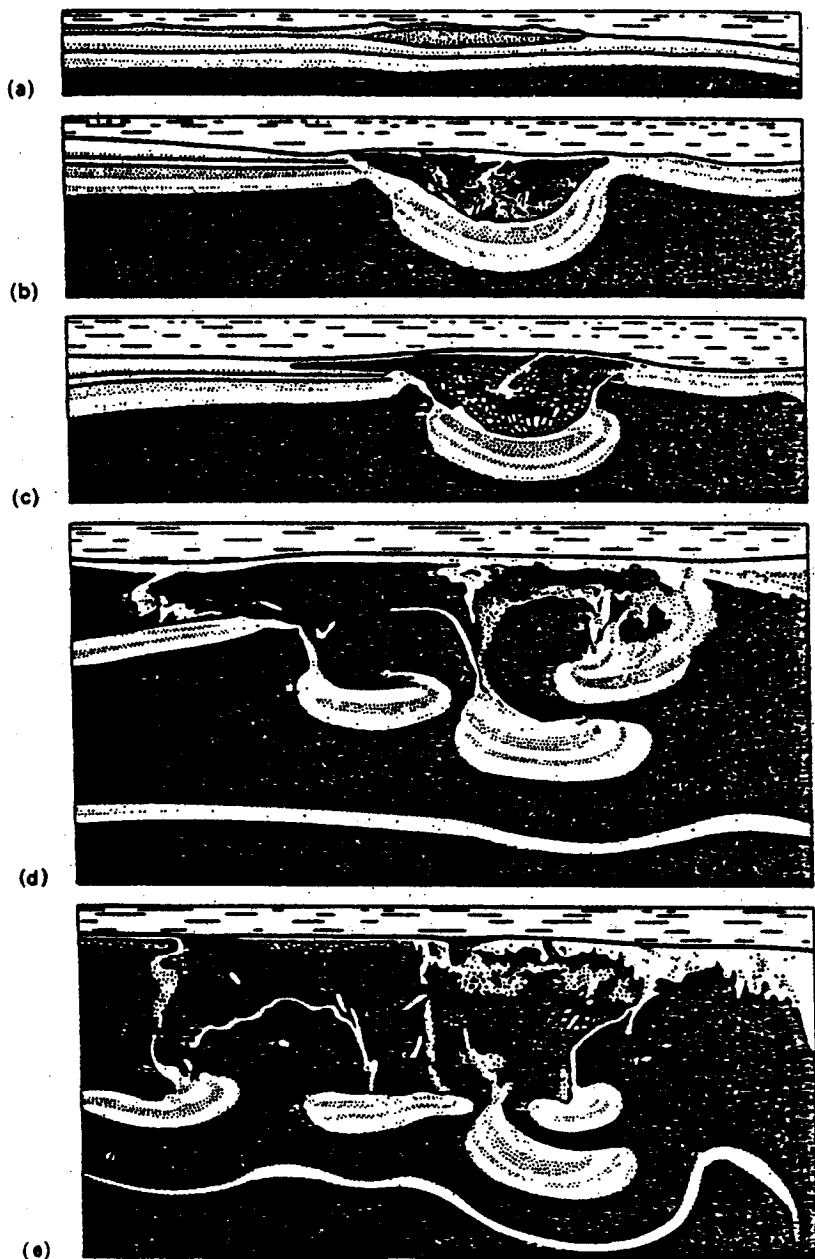

Fig. 5-27 Formation of pseudonodules in an experiment by Kuenen (1958). A layer of sand, locally thickened (a) and overlying unconsolidated clay, was vibrated. Load structures developed (b and c) and became completely enclosed in clay (d and e).

from Blatt, Middleton, and Murray, 1980